ELLWOOD GENEALOGY.

CONTRIBUTED BY EDITH (VAN HEUSEN) BECKER (MRS. FRANK N. BECKER),
No. 93 Guy Park Avenue, Amsterdam, N. Y.

This article has been prepared for the purpose of giving a record (so far as it is known to the compiler) of Richard¹ Ellwood (claimed to have been a descendant of Thomas Ellwood, the Quaker) who settled near the Palatine District, or Canajoharie, N. Y., about 1748.* It is claimed that Richard¹ Ellwood came from England with his wife and two children; but the dates of birth of his children do not substantiate this fact.

* In preparing this record of Richard¹ Ellwood and his descendants, the compiler has carefully consulted many histories, all of which claim that Richard¹ Ellwood of 1748 was the first of the name in America, and that from him are descended all of the Elwoods and Ellwoods in this country. Careful investigation has disproved this assumption of these historians.

The Pennsylvania Historical Society's records, Vol. XXIII, p. 110, show that a survey was made in 1693, for the wife of Thomas Ellwood, of land in Chester Township, Burlington County. This record undoubtedly refers to Thomas Ellwood, the Quaker, who came over to this country for a few years in the interests of William Penn.

The records of Christ Church, Philadelphia, give evidence of Ellwoods dying in Philadelphia as early as 1709. And the Fairfield County, Connecticut, marriages shows that Ellwoods were in that county in 1742, and from the similarity of family given names it appears possible that the Connecticut Ellwoods and Richard¹ Ellwood of 1748 and his descendants were connected. In the records of Queen Anne Chapel (Fort Hunter) there appears the name of James Elwood† who married February 1738-42; but, owing to the destruction of these records from that time on, nothing further is known of him. A Joseph Ellwood, aged 19, of Garston, England, tailor or

† This James Ellwood died prior to 10-26-1762. Sir William Johnson being one of the administrators of his estate.

1. RICHARD ELLWOOD, the emigrant, in 1750 built with his own hands the stone house below St. Johnsville, now known as Fort Klock, and his name or initials and the date are chiseled in a stone over one of the windows in the front of this house. He died in 1754 and the house passed out of the family's possession for some reason. Perhaps the deed was never recorded. This may account for the claim of the Klocks of an unbroken title from the crown of England down to the present time. In 1755 the Klocks built a wing to the original house and this date is over the main door of this wing. This house has always been pointed out to the Ellwood descendants as the home of their emigrant ancestor.

The date of birth of Richard Ellwood is not known. Nor is the baptismal or maiden surname of his wife known. It is supposed that they came over to this country from Oxfordshire or Buckinghamshire, in both of which counties there are branches of the Ellwood family, and the Ellwoods of Clayton Priory, Sussex, England are of the same family. The Ellwoods, both in this country and in England, have been noted for their interest in educational and religious affairs.

Children of Richard Ellwood of 1748:—

- +2. Richard, b. 3-17-1750, Minden, N. Y.; d. 9-24-1825; m. Catherine Bell.

Catherine Bell (or Pell), b. —? d. 9-24-1825 (or 12-28-1835), aged 77 years; neither of which dates would seem to agree with the account of her birth, which states that:—during the French and Indian War in 1751 Mrs. Bell (or Pell), the mother of the wife of Richard Ellwood was tomahawked, scalped, had her nose cut off and a severe wound made in her right thigh and was left for dead, the rest of her family having been killed. Regaining consciousness during the night she crawled into Fort Herkimer where her wounds were dressed and she recovered. Three months later (hence about 1751 or 1752) Catherine, her daughter, was born. Mrs. Bell (or Pell) lived for 32 years after this frightful experience marry-

Henry Smith, was entered for passage from Liverpool to New England, 9-19-1699. Henry Elwood on the Francis Bonaventure to Virginia. And Ralph Ellwood sailed 19th Sept., 1635, on the Truelove for New England, which latter individual is conceded by the authorities to be identical with Ralph Ellenwood (or Ellingwood) who settled in Salem, Mass., in 1637.

For the sake of uniformity the spelling Ellwood has been followed throughout in this article, although some branches of the family spell the family name Elwood.

All four sons of Richard¹ Ellwood of 1748 served in the Revolutionary War. His son Richard was an Ensign in Clyde's Regiment, Diefendorf's Company, Tryon County Troops:—Isaac was a corporal in same regiment and company, and was wounded in the shoulder at the battle of Oriskany and was a pensioner:—Benjamin was in the same regiment and company:—and Peter was also in same regiment and company. See Documents relating to the Colonial History of New York, Vol. XV, pp. 295, 367; Archives of New York State, Vol. I, pp. 94, 106, 172, 173, 188.

A Theobald Ellwood was sponsor at the baptism of Catherine Ellwood (daughter of Richard P. Ellwood of this record). This Theobald Ellwood married Anna —? (perhaps Baum) and had Josia, b. 12-21-1812, at Minden, N. Y., and Anna, b. 12-25-1813, at Minden, N. Y.

THE ABEL SMITHS OF HEMPSTEAD, LONG ISLAND, AND SOME OF THEIR DESCENDANTS.

CONTRIBUTED BY ANNE E. SMITH,
Member of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

These Smiths of Hempstead, Long Island, were English colonists who settled at that place early in its history; and, like others of the early settlers of that place, were probably of Puritan stock. When or by what route these Smiths arrived at Hempstead, or from what part of England they came, we have been unable to ascertain.

Hempstead was settled in 1644 by a group of Englishmen and their families who went across Long Island Sound from New England and located on land which they had bought from the Indians the previous year. See Thompson's History of Long Island for an interesting and condensed history of Hempstead.
